THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

General Election on November 15th.

MR. BONAR LAW ISSUES A MANIFESTO.

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 26.

The Proclamation of the dissolution of Parliament orders the assembly of the new Parliament on November 20th. His Majesty has approved Orders-in-Council for the issue of writs for the election to take place on Wednesday, November 15th.

Bonar Law for Glasgow.

London, October 24.

Mr. Bonar Law has been unanimously adopted Conservative candidate for the Central Division of Glasgow. In a speech he declared that the nation needed, above everything else, rest and tranquillity. Their policy would in that sense be negative, but it did not mean that they were going into the fight with any bitterness whatever. They were going into it with a desire to win the election for their party and of that he was confident.

[Mr. Bonar Law has represented Central Glasgow since the 1918 Election]

The New Government's Manifesto.

London, October 26.

Mr. Bonar Law has issued a manifesto to his constituents. He says he considers it most important that there should be a return as speedily and completely as possible to normal pre-war procedure. The time has come to change the machinery of the central Government. The work of the Cabinet Secretary in connection with the Treasury must be continued, but the Secretary in the present form must be ended, and instructions had already been given to transfer the machinery in connection with the League of Nations to the Foreign Office. As regards any future International Conference, even where it was necessary for the Prime Minister to attend, the machinery of the conferences must be performed by the Foreign Office and not the Cabinet Secretary.

Co-operation With the Allies.

The first foreign interest of the Empire and the world was the re-establishment of peace. The Government, in its foreign relations, would pursue an even course, loyally fulfilling its obligations but resolutely determined not to extend its commitments and to curtail them should reasonable occasion arise. Only by frank and full co-operation, as during the war, with France the other great Allies could we hope to solve the difficult problems with which we were confronted. He confidently hoped that, under the well-try guidance of the Foreign Secretary, the negotiations for a settlement of the Near Eastern crisis would result in a true and lasting peace and it would be their earnest aim to give the League of Nations whole-hearted and practical support.

Friendship With America First.

The maintenance of friendship and good understanding with the United States based not on a formal alliance but on a community of the inherited ideals and recent common ship in arms, must always be the principal aim of British policy. Above all, we mean in all matters affecting external policy and the security of the Empire to act in close and continuous consultation with the Governments of the Dominions and India in order to ensure our policy and keep fully in view both the interests and sentiments of our fellow-subjects overseas and at all times to have behind it the moral support of the whole British Commonwealth.

Irish Policy.

Mr. Bonar Law says his first task, if returned to power, would be the ratification of the Irish Treaty. We are prepared, he says, to take part in making good the Treaty, both in letter and spirit, and to co-operate with the Irish Government in the new relationship within the Empire which the Treaty created. We are equally pledged to safeguard the freedom of choice and security of the Parliament and Government of North Ireland.

We desire to promote the quiet and orderly development of India under the Constitution conferred by the Act of 1919.

Home Problems.

The chief preoccupation at home would be the state of trade and employment. The plans considered by the late Government to deal with unemployment would be re-examined with a view to possible improvements and immediate action. A real recovery, however, was dependent on a revival of trade. The first essential was the reduction of expenditure and the relief of taxation clogging the wheels of industry.

Imperial Economic Conference.

The most helpful method of reviving industry is the development of inter-imperial trade. We therefore propose immediately to consult the Governments of the self-governing Dominions and, if they approve, to summon as early as possible an Economic Conference with a view to finding how, by mutual co-operation, best to develop the vast trade of which, in my opinion, the resources of the Empire admit.

The Agricultural Problem.

Referring to the serious condition of agriculture in Britain, he says the Government will immediately re-examine the problem and hope by making proposals to assist the agricultural community in overcoming its difficulties. Finally, he says he does not recommend other desirable measures because the nation's first need is to get on with its own work with the minimum of interference at home and of disturbance abroad.

New Premier's Speech.

London, October 26.

Mr. Bonar Law, addressing a great demonstration at Glasgow based his speech almost entirely on the manifesto cabled earlier. In elaborating his policy, he said it would be a negative one, because he believed the need of the country was to recover from the effect of the war and to be left to work out its own salvation. The most pressing thing in foreign policy was the Near East question, but he believed Britain, France and Italy would reach an agreement which there would be no danger of the Greeks and Turks declining to accept. Reparations was the greatest foreign problem. British and French aims on this subject did not differ, but only on opinion regarding the best way of arriving at the result. He declared that he did not want to make the Gallipoli Straits a second Gibraltar. He foreshadowed the abolition of the Ministry of Pensions, and, dealing with the proposal to develop inter-imperial trade, said the Government could imagine nothing better than settling suitable members of the unemployed overseas.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN TRADE RELATIONS.

No Change of Policy.

Paris, October 26.

M. Poincaré received M. Herriot, who reported the results of his investigations in Russia and the desire of certain French business men to participate in the development of Russia.

It has been announced in Paris that the policy of the French Government has not changed—namely, while facilities will be given to French businessmen desiring to trade with Russia, all such operations must be undertaken at their own risk.

THE NEAR EAST CONFERENCE.

Proposed Invitation to the United States.

(Reuter's Service.)

Paris, October 26.

Marquis Curzon has proposed that the United States be invited to attend the Near East Conference.

The invitation to the United States points out that the latter are invited in view of their having been represented at the Treaty of Sevres deliberations and owing to their interests in the future of the Straits.

The invitation to the Powers concerned is being issued forthwith in accordance with the arrangements cabled on the 21st. Inst., but, excluding the Ukraine.

[The previous cable stated that Russia, Turkey, the Ukraine, and Bulgaria would be invited to the Near East conference, but except the Porte, not to the separate conference at Lausanne in reference to the Straits.]

U.S. Delegate as Plenipotentiary.

Later.

It is officially announced that the Allies are inviting the United States to send a plenipotentiary to the Turkish peace and the Straits conferences at Lausanne. It is possible, with wider powers than the representative at the San Remo conference.

REPARATION COMMISSION'S VISIT TO PARIS.

Fall of the Franc.

London, October 24.

French francs depreciated to 64 7/10, the general selling price due to the recent collapse in marks, also to French finances. The Belgian franc stands at 69 7/10. Marks are steady at 19 60/100.

The fall of the franc is alarming Paris, where the sudden visit of the Reparation Commission to Berlin is regarded as a foreboding omen. The view is beginning to find expression that the British Government will devise a plan for saving Germany and freeing France from her entanglement in Germany's downfall. That reparations discussions will be transferred permanently to Berlin, which is the British view, appears likely from an announcement in Berlin that the German Government has invited a number of foreign financial experts to visit Berlin to discuss measures for the stabilisation of the mark, including Prof. Keynes (Britain), M. Cassel (Sweden), M.M. Vassiering and Ter Meulen (Holland), Prof. Jenks of New York, and Mr. Potter of the American Guaranty Trust Company.

INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE.

Japanese Social Reform.

Geneva, October 26.

In the course of a discussion upon the application of the Eight-Hour Day Convention at the International Labour Conference, the Japanese Government delegate, Mr. Adachi, made an admirable speech, which was cheered. He refused some of the statements by the Japanese workers' delegate, and dwelt at length upon reform in Japanese social legislation.

Mr. Adachi moved that the conference recommend the International Labour Office to take appropriate measures to obtain effective collaboration of the United States therein. The resolution reflects the general desire of conference circles.

ITALIAN CABINET RESIGNS.

Trouble with the Fascists.

Rome, October 25.

Signor Facta's Cabinet has resigned owing to the threatening attitude of the Fascists, who demand a share in the Government and have ordered a general mobilisation of all Fascist detachments throughout Italy. The situation, however, is regarded hopefully in Rome, where it is expected that either Signor Orlando or Signor Giolitti will form a Ministry.

THE RUBBER RESTRICTION SCHEME.

Suggested Government Aid for Weaker Estates

London, October 25.

In a letter to the Times in regard to the rubber restriction scheme, Mr. D. Y. Perkins, who is a member of the Malayan Rubber Commission, emphasises the necessity of financially assisting the weaker estates during the period of limitation. He hopes that the Governments concerned will recognise their obligations in this respect.

STRANDING OF H.M.S. RALEIGH.

Severe Reflection upon Commander.

London, October 26.

The finding of the court-martial at Portsmouth upon the stranding of the flagship Raleigh off the coast of Labrador on August 8 is that the navigating officer, Commander Leslie Bott, be dismissed from his ship and severely reprimanded. The court held that the discrepancy in charts urged by the defence was not a contributory cause of the stranding.

WARDER'S DEATH.

Mr. H.D. Hoare Dies in Hospital.

We regret to record the death of Mr. H.D. Hoare, of Victoria Gaol, which took place last night at the Government Civil Hospital.

The deceased, who was a young man of 28 years, came out to the Colony as a Warder in April of last year, after having seen service during the war with the Royal West Kents. He was taken ill about a fortnight ago and was admitted to hospital. Pneumonia supervened and he passed away last night.

A single man, the deceased was very popular among the prison and police staffs. The funeral takes place this afternoon and will be attended by a big contingent of deceased fellow-warders.

R.H.K.Y. CLUB.

To-morrow's Opening Cruise.

The opening cruise of the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club is to be held to-morrow afternoon. A band will play selections and tea will be served on the lawn during the afternoon, members and their friends being invited to be present. Mrs. Lowe is to distribute the prizes at the conclusion of the racing.

There are five events on the programme, and there is promise of some exciting contests. The events comprise races for English and Chinese rigged cruisers, racing yachts (ladies' races), One Design Class, Heyward Hays and Gael Class and a rowing event (four-oars) between scratch crews of the Yacht Club.

THE CANTON ARREST.

Is Dr. de Colbert British?

Dr. M. M. de Colbert, held by the Canton authorities in connection with the bomb outrage on October 19, is still refused bail, says the Canton Times.

The nationality of Dr. de Colbert has not yet been determined. He was born in Canada, it is said, but is holding American and German passports. He may be adjudged a British subject, after all.

So far no action has been taken in connection with the disposal of the case, as his nationality has not yet been formally determined and he cannot be turned over to any local foreign consulate. He may be released soon and ordered out of Canton, many thinking this will be the easiest way to dispose of the case.

Dr. Ching Yick-lap, a woman physician and dean of the Republic Hospital, under whom Dr. de Colbert was serving as a resident physician, has been practically exonerated from the case. She was also a suspect for a time.

Our Canton correspondent writes:—Dr. de Colbert is at present being detained and kept in the same room as his interpreter, Chan, though under very strict supervision. Four guards are being detailed to take turns outside the cell. The prisoners are being well-treated, being supplied with two meals a day, at a value of $1 each. It is considered that sufficient hints were thrown out in the last trial to give an indication of the offence. It would appear that the authorities are holding Dr. de Colbert as being directly responsible for the series of bomb outrages which resulted in many casualties.

CANTON CENSORSHIP.

Two Hongkong Papers Banned.

Press censorship is again in action in Canton. Government censors are being stationed at the office of the Canton Press Association to pass on copy filed by the many local news agencies.

At present there are more than ten local news agencies furnishing city news to the forty daily papers in Canton.

By government order, two Hongkong daily newspapers are prohibited admission to Canton, they being the Tai Kwong Pao, or the True Light and the Hongkong Sun Pao, or Morning Post. These publications are Kuomintang in politics and naturally often give comments unfavourable to the present administration in Canton.—Canton Times.

CHINESE POLITICS.

A Row in Parliament.

Peking, Oct. 27.—The Senate again failed to elect a Speaker as the result of a disturbance created by a group of Senators, who charged both candidates with bribery and urged a postponement of the ballot. An angry scene ensued in which the ballot-box was overturned and the ballot papers scattered. The meeting broke up in disorder.—Reuter.

THE FUKIEN REVOLT.

New Appointments.

Peking, Oct. 26.—A mandate issued last night appoints Li Hou-chi as Commander-in-Chief and Admiral Sah Chen-ping as Vice-Commander-in-Chief of the naval and military forces in Fukien. Kao-Chuan-chung is appointed commander of Fukien troops for the suppression of the Hsiao Hsiao and other rebels.

LADY INSULTED.

By Rapacious Chair Coolies.

Two chair coolies were summoned before Mr. E.W. Hamilton, at the Police Court this morning, for demanding more than the legal fare and with using insulting language towards Mrs. S.H. Hidden.

Inspector Garrod said that the chair was engaged at the top of Arbutnot Road, near Glenelg, and it was taken as far as Mrs. Hidden's house at No. 14 Conduit Road. (The time occupied was eight minutes. Twenty cents was paid as fare, but the defendants demanded forty cents.)

The defendants admitted having demanded more than the legal fare, but denied having used insulting language towards the complainant.

In evidence, Mrs. Hidden said that, understanding Chinese very well, she could say that the language used by the defendants was very insulting. She sent out a houseboy to pay the fare, but the first defendant refused to accept the twenty cents and followed the boy into the house, where he remained for five minutes, saying that he would not go until forty cents had been paid.

His Worship:—Did he swear? Witness:—He was quite excited in the house, and used abusive language.

Asked by the Magistrate if he had anything to say in regard to this evidence, the first defendant admitted that he "talked a great deal, but never swore."

His Worship:—Some day when you use such language to a man you will find yourself severely hurt for it. On the first summons—demanding more than the legal fare—I fine you each $5 or seven days. On the second charge, second defendant is discharged; there is no case against him. First defendant is fined $10, or fourteen days. Any more troubles from you and I will fine you heavily.

THE LAST CHANCE.

To-day is your last chance of securing coupons for this week's Football Competition.

The result will be announced in Tuesday's "Telegraph."

On Monday a fresh coupon will appear, applying to the matches to be played on Saturday, November 4th.

CHINESE MINE STRIKE.

Prevention of Riots.

Peking, Oct. 26.—The strike situation at Tangshan is reported to have improved. The local authorities are taking steps to prevent riots and guarantee essential services at the mines. The Peking-Mukden Railway has issued a circular promising those of its striking employees returning to work exemption from punishment, and warning agitators that they will be severely dealt with.—Reuter.

Messrs. Dodwell and Co., agents for the Kailan Mining Administration, write us as follows:—

Referring to the reports which have been published in Hongkong in the last two days regarding strikes and riots at the mines of the Kailan Mining Administration, we received this morning the following telegram from the General Manager of the Administration, despatched from Tientsin at 7.30 p.m. yesterday:—"Under the influence of outside agitators the workmen at Tangshan, Linsai, and Chaokochwang collieries and at Chinwangtao struck work on the 23rd. Instant. The workmen at Maobiako colliery remain loyal. An adequate force of police is guarding the mines. The police and strikers are in collision, but the situation is well controlled."

FORGOT HIS MOTHER TONGUE.

White Man Who Only Speaks Chinese.

The strange case of a white man who could only speak Chinese was disclosed by proceedings in the Police Court this morning, when a man who had the appearance of being an American gave his name as Nai Mui-kun in response to a charge alleging possession of five Mauser pistols and 1,450 rounds of ammunition. It is stated that the defendant came to China whilst very young and had lived so long amongst the Chinese that whatever knowledge he formerly might have had of his own tongue is now completely lost.

Two Chinese were brought up in conjunction with the same charge and bail of $1,000 was decided on by the Magistrate, who granted an application by Mr. Leo. d'Almada for a week's normal remand.

TURKEY'S DEBTS.

Constantinople, Oct. 25.
The Allied High Commissioners have protested against the warning given by Hamid Bey, representative of the Angora Government, to the Banks, to the effect that Angora will not recognise payments made on account of the Constantinople Government.
The Commissioners point out the serious effects, including the fact that officials have not received their salaries for seven months.
The Allied High Commissioners handed a note to Hamid Bey, pointing out that the threatened measure will bring starvation to widows, children and other Government pensioners, put an end to services and public order and lead to anarchy; therefore, the Powers have ordered the Banks to carry on as heretofore. They declare they are unable to admit the contention of the Angora Government thereunto.

THE RUBBER RESTRICTION SCHEME.

London, Oct. 25.
The India Rubber Manufacturers' Association has issued a statement, urging objections to the adoption of the recommendation in the Stevenson Committee report. The manufacturers protest against Government interference.
The Manufacturers' Association declare that the scheme puts a premium on inefficiency and will force efficiently organised plantations to raise production costs. The non-co-operation of the Dutch planters may have very serious results. British estates encumbered with officialdom at the cost of the British taxpayer will be compelled to watch New York and Amsterdam building up even more important rubber markets. The Committee of the Rubber Shareholders' Association, in their first annual report, state that a widespread propaganda campaign is about to be launched. The Committee intend to take up the question of abuses of company administration vigorously. It is stated that the London charges vary between 3s. 6d. and 5s. 6d. per planted acre.

CHINA AND MARKET FOR WINES.

Paris, October 25.
The wine-growers of France are alarmed at the prospect confronting them. Eighty per cent. of their pre-war customers have been lost, owing to prohibition in the United States, the stoppage of the importation of French wines into South America, and the closing of Russian and German markets, while trade at home has been almost paralysed by taxation, and the cost of cultivation has increased.
The Comte de Ferrand, President of the Union des Syndicates du Medoc, urges that new markets should be found in China and Japan.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN TRADE RELATIONS.

Berlin, October 25.
M. Krasin denies that he has resigned (from the Russian Trade Commission). He declared that the Soviets will again deal with the Urquhart agreement when Anglo-Russian relations have entered a new phase.

GREECE'S DEFEAT.

Athens, Oct. 25.
Prince Andrew has been arrested after a preliminary

He will probably be detained in the residence of Prince Nicholas.

HOME POLITICS.

THE BANQUE IN-DUSTRIELLE.

Position of Creditors.

Peking, Oct. 18.—(Reuters' telegrams.) Representative of the Banque Industrielle de Chine had an interview yesterday with Mr. Sellar, local Manager of the Banque Industrielle de Chine, when the following questions were put to Mr. Sellar and the following answers received:
Is it true that the branches of the Banque Industrielle de Chine were opened in Indo-China on the 16th instant?—They were not the branches of the Banque Industrielle de Chine but those of the Societe Francaise de Gerance de la Banque Industrielle de Chine, in Saigon, Haiphong, and Hanoi, that were opened.
What is the connection between the Banque Industrielle de Chine and the Societe Francaise de Gerance?
—All the buildings of the Banque Industrielle have been leased by the Societe Francaise de Gerance and the whole staff has been transferred to the said Society; but the Societe Francaise de Gerance is an absolutely independent company, having a capital of its own of P.
15,000,000, and it is to transact all ordinary banking business in its own name. It will also act as agent for the Banque Industrielle to collect the latter's assets in the Far East.
What advantage will this scheme
give to the creditors of the Banque Industrielle?—1.—By the medium of the Societe Francaise de Gerance the collection of the assets of the Banque Industrielle will be made in very favourable conditions. 2.—The salaries of the staff, at present paid by the Banque Industrielle, will be paid entirely by the Societe Francaise de Gerance. 3.—All the buildings, the commercial organization, etc., of the Banque Industrielle will be utilized, instead of being kept entirely unproductive. 4.—All the profits made by the Societe Francaise de Gerance will be handed over to the Banque Industrielle, with the exception of a lump sum of P. 2,000,000, representing the fixed remuneration of the Societe Francaise de Gerance.

A Kind of Trustee.

You have just stated that the Societe Francaise de Gerance will act as an independent company.
Do you mean to say that it will not be held responsible for the former liabilities of the Banque Industrielle?—The Societe Francaise de Gerance is a new judicial entity and it will be bound by no other commitments than its own. On the other hand new business that may be transacted by the Societe Francaise de Gerance will understandably be done in the name of the Banque Industrielle de Chine.
Thus the advantages to the creditors of the Banque Industrielle are seen. If profits are made they will go to the Banque Industrielle and its creditors, while if losses should occur on new business they will be borne by the Societe Francaise alone.
Would it not have been better for the Banque Industrielle to reopen its own doors after having obtained from its own creditors some sort of moratorium?—No. That would not have been possible as the Bank is faced with many lawsuits in France, which will take a long time to settle.
From your statements I gather that the Societe Francaise is not going to act as a liquidator but as a kind of guardian?—Yes, you may consider the Societe de Gerance as a kind of trustee in charge of the business of the Banque Industrielle.
All this sounds very well as far as new business is concerned, but what about the creditors of the Banque?—We have to follow the French legal procedure in that we have to ask our creditors to vote for or against the proposals for the settlement we soon shall submit to them.
What will these proposals be?
—We shall offer to all our creditors payment by means of bonds redeemable in twenty-five years but carrying no interest.
Exchangeable Bonds.
In that likely to prove acceptable to your creditors?—Certainly not;
but as you probably know, a provisional agreement has been signed between the French Legation and the Chinese Govern-

Devils That Persisted.

Chinese youth at the Magistracy yesterday, it was stated by Inspec-was in hospital. Some time ago the complainant was engaged to

was paid $2.
Apparently his efforts were fruitless, for the devils continued to haunt the house. On Wednesday night the defendant called on the complainant and assaulted him in consequence of his refusal to refund the $2. The case was adjourned until the 28th.

THE SIBERIAN TROUBLE.

Vladivostok, Oct. 25.—The Japanese evacuation was completed today, and as soon as the China troops entered the town the strike terminated. Perfect order has been restored and there were no unpleasant incidents. The China troops created an excellent impression because of their perfect discipline. They are well clothed and armed and met with a sympathetic reception from the population.—Reuter.

AMERICAN LIQUOR LAW.

Washington, Oct. 25.—In the Supreme Court, Judge Brandeis refused to grant the foreign shipping lines a stay of execution against the enforcement of Judge Hand's decision upholding the Daugherty ruling. The Treasury simultaneously announced, however, that foreign ships will still be permitted, as a matter of policy, to enter American waters with liquor under seal. The shipping companies intend to appeal against the Brandeis decision, the hearing to be taken in a month's time.—Reuter.

SHIPOWNERS' LIABILITY.

Brussels, Oct. 24.—The International Conference on maritime law unanimously approved the draft International Code for the limitation of responsibility of shipowners to $5 a ton in respect of vessel and freight, and creating a special fund equivalent to $5 a ton for victims of disasters.—Reuter.

KIDNAPPED BY PIRATES.

A Story from Pakhoi.

A Pakhoi correspondent writes us as follows:—
One of the kidnapped in the recent raids by robbers in the Pakhoi locality paid me a visit on the 18th October. He is an old friend of mine, of about 25 years' standing and gave me a few details of his adventure. He is the son of the village chief mentioned in previous reports.
He said:—

"They released my father and mother owing to their old age and for the purpose of getting the ransom money ready for them. There were still five of our family in their hands.
My wife and self were tied up with ropes and taken on board a pirate junk, on which there was about fifteen pirates. They all had a rifle slung across their backs, and a Mauser pistol attached to their belts and in addition to this some of them had revolvers and big knives in their hands. They told me and my wife to look down on to the deck and they began to rub the blunt edge of their knives across the backs of our necks and told us the knives would be used upon us if we were caught looking upwards or into the faces of the pirates. Then they put my wife into a hole amongst a number of other strange kidnapped women and girls, and they put me down into another hole where there were three kidnapped men. A short time afterwards, one of them handed down to me paper, pen, and ink and told me to write a letter to my parents demanding $5,000. This was the sum required for the release of the whole family. I obeyed and handed the letter back to them, and then they closed up the hatch and I sat in the dark hole. Many hours afterwards, they opened the hatch and handed down to me a bowl of rice, a large piece of boiled beef and three small salt fish and closed the hatch again.
The next morning at daylight they began to blaze away for all they were worth with their rifles and pistols. I could hear the cracking of rifles and the booming of cannons all day long. I also heard some rifle bullets crashing into the junk, and I laid flat down on my stomach in the bottom of the boat. The booming of the cannons were coming nearer to us and I could hear the pirates on deck sharpening their knives on a piece of rock somewhere above my head. Then they called me up on deck,
and one of them began to wipe his knife on my back. I felt very queer and thought the end had come, but, instead, I was told to get a move on and help them to escape. I obeyed and helped them to pull ropes here and there.

Then the pirates ceased fire.
Several of them were wounded.
The large shells from the gunboat were splashing into the sea all around the junk, some so close that the deck was all wet. They told me to get down into my hole quickly which I did and they again closed the hatch. Whilst there, I could hear them putting overboard two small boats which they had on deck, and then all was silent, and it appeared as if all of them had left the junk. I again laid down flat on the bottom of the junk, and the firing seemed to be getting further away from us.
Then I heard some boats come alongside and a number of people came on board. They opened the hatch and shouted down "Come out or we will shoot." I cried out "Don't, we are not pirates."
We were all gathered on deck, and could see that these men were from the Chinese gunboat. We were then taken to Pakhoi in the junk, and after proving to the military that we were not pirates, my wife and I were released."

THE JAPANESE SPY MANIA.

House and Office Turned Upside Down.

Despite the prevalence of a virulent type of cholera in Japan, which seems to be causing the authorities considerable concern, the police and minor judiciary have got hold of another scare and the majority of the Press has joined the minions of the law in declaiming through every font of type the average newspaper office possesses that a "plot in which foreigners and Japanese are involved has been unearthed, the conspirators seeking to supply a certain country which intends to declare war on Japan soon with maps and charts of fortified regions in this land."
writes a Tokyo correspondent to the N. Y. Daily News under date Oct. 5. The term "certain country" is a euphemism for the United States, and the avidity with which the press has laid hold of this fresh scare, shows that the war boxes is never quite lost sight of despite the Washington Conference. War talk may have been temporarily relegated to the background, but it certainly has not been consigned to oblivion.

A PAINFUL SHOCK.

The charges of being a spy for the American Government centred round Mr. R. M. Andrews, chief partner of the Andrews & George Co., one of the largest foreign mercantile firms in Tokyo. Mr.
Andrews, who is now getting on in years, has spent nearly a quarter of a century in Japan, has all his property invested in this country, and it was a well-known fact that both Mrs. Andrews and he intended to spend the rest of their lives in Japan.
During this long period, not the semblance of an allegation similar to the one just made has been preferred against the veteran foreign businessman. Mr. Andrews himself is painfully shocked and astonished that charges of so repulsive a nature could be preferred against him.

The manner in which the police, accompanied by two judges of the District Court, are alleged to have carried out the raids on the office of Mr. Andrews, situated on the Ginza, one of Tokyo's most important thoroughfares, and on his house in Shiba Park, would have done credit to the director of a movie picture
"stunt." The subordinate Japanese official especially of the police, has a queer predilection for display and ostentation, mixed with arrogance, which he regards as bolstering up his authority. None of these were lost in the making of the raids, and the crowds that gathered both at the home and the place of business belonging to Mr. Andrews were treated to a rare exhibition of ridiculous pom-posity. The thing might be dismissed with a smile and a shrug of the shoulders were it not for the fact that behind it all was a serious charge which, according to the laws of Japan, if proved,
may mean a long term of imprisonment without the option of a fine. That this charge was hanging over one of the most highly-respected foreign residents of Tokyo made the situation all the more serious.

OFFICE AND HOUSE RANSACKED.
Two motor-cars, with judicial officials and police in uniform, drove up to the office of Mr. Andrews, and simultaneously two other cars, also with officials of the law, entered the grounds of
Mr. Andrews' home in Shiba Park. After having placed sentries at all the entrances, the rest of the squad rushed upstairs.
Mr. Andrews was in his office at the time, and when the police announced that they had come to search the place, Mr. Andrews told them that they were at perfect liberty to do so. Everything in the place was subjected to a rigorous scrutiny and from the safe down to the drawers of the different desks, each and every document, picture, memo-bill and stock list were meticulously examined. The officials were on the spur of photographs, but failed to discover anything "incriminating."
A personal letter of Miss Hoffmann's, secretary to Mr. Andrews, in the course of which a lady friend hoped she had "enjoyed the motor-trip to Misaki" which is near the Japanese naval port of Yokohama was seized. That was all the "evidence" the dramatic and apparently carefully-planned raid elicited.

Mr. Andrews was then requested to accompany the police, and on the way to his home, an interpreter volunteered the information that Mr. Andrews would perhaps like to know what offence was preferred against him. "I should vary much like to," responded Mr. Andrews.

"You are charged with being an American spy," was the reply.
Silence prevailed the rest of the way while the cars rolled on towards the home of Mr. Andrews.
The augmented force of raiders, now numbering 18, dashed into the Andrews home. There had been a little rain and Tokyo's disgraceful streets took on their normal garb of muddy sloppishness. In their dirty boots, the Police went all over the house, leaving lumps of mud and cakes of moist earth to mark their trail. Into the parlour, the bed-room, the garage, the kitchen—they tramped everywhere. Cupboards were ransacked, clothes strewn about the floor, including those of Mrs. Andrews, letters examined and covers of books prized open to discover the alleged offending photographs.
Mrs. Andrews was not at home during the raid. When she returned, she found the place in an uproar, the house upside down and some of her best clothes and carpets ruined. The police took away a couple of albums of photographs chiefly of friends of Mrs. Andrews and some letters which, as they had been received during the war, had portions deleted by the censor. They looked "suspicious" —to the police and were taken away as "evidence." Obviously, the search had not been productive of the results hoped for,
as Mr. Andrews was once again asked if he had any more photographs. "You have taken all the photographs my wife and I possess in the world," he replied.

CHARGED AT DISTRICT COURT.

The next scene in this strange and amusing drama staged at the instance of the police was all the chief participants in the Tokyo District Court. Four accusations were made against Mr. Andrews:—(1) Violation of the navigation laws of Japan; (2) operating a motor-boat without a licence; (3) operating a motorboat without a proper crew;
and (4) entering a fortified zone without permission. To the first three charges, which are merely technical, Mr. Andrews pleaded guilty. With regard to the last charge, which virtually means that Mr. Andrews is accused of being a spy, he entered an emphatic plea of "not guilty," and pointed out that he had a licensed Japanese captain driving the boat and if the craft had entered a forbidden zone, it was without his knowledge. The Judge then told Mr. Andrews that the fourth charge was a criminal offence and that the Court had power to hold him in goal until the trial was concluded, but owing to his recognized high standing amongst the foreign community of Japan, he would be permitted to return to his home if he assured the Court that he would attend its sessions at 1.30 p.m. next day.

The Tokyo press has not lost the spy-and-war box opportunity that this latest campaign of the police against foreigners in Japan has let loose, and has mobilized its biggest and boldest type for the occasion.
All sorts of wild stories are afloat, that several foreigners, including an Englishman and an Indian "discovered to be well-known Japanese spies," and several Japanese are implicated "in an extensive plot," and the press promises its readers "wonderful revelations soon."

Meanwhile, the case against
Mr. Andrews is proceeding in the Tokyo District Court.

CANTON NEWS.

Another Loan.

Our Canton correspondent states that it is reported that a short-term loan of three million dollars is to be negotiated between the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank and the Government at 1 1/2 per cent. interest per month, without security. It is stated that the money will be paid over within three days of the conclusion of the negotiations, and that it will be used in connection with the redemption of back-notes.

The guards and police at the Civil Governor's Yamen have been increased in order to prevent citizens protesting against the foreign loan from forcing an entrance.

An aerial force, with three aeroplanes and bombs, has been despatched to Fukien. It is to be

CORRESPONDENCE.

(To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph.")

Labour Trouble.

Sir,—Whatever the cause of the existing shortage of labour in the Colony it seems to be evident that at present there is no accommodation for more.

At yesterday's Council meeting the Colonial Secretary said that the labour situation has been having most serious consideration by the Government. It is a relief to hear this, but serious consideration is of no use unless followed by action. Obviously it is necessary either to make arrangements to accommodate the amount of labour required, or, if that cannot be done, to reduce the amount of work in hand to fit the existing accommodation. The obvious thing not to do is to create a demand for more labour until such time as it can be accommodated.

It is as though, while engaged in trying to squeeze a quart into a pint pot, we actually propose to increase the quart to a gallon. The result of such an attempt can only end in disaster. If the pot is not first enlarged, it must inevitably burst.

All the money in the world will not accomplish that for which there is insufficient labour available. The available labour will exhaust the money without accomplishing the result.

We have difficulties enough handed us by the "Giants of the past." For goodness' sake, Giants of the present, don't create immeasurably greater ones.

Yours etc. "MY SUFFERING AUNT!" Hongkong, 27th. Oct. 1922.

KOWLOON CONCERT.

An Enjoyable Musical Evening.

An enjoyable concert, organised by Mr. Eric Rice in aid of the Nanning Fund, was held at St. Andrew's Church Hall last night. Mr. A. P. Glanville is well known to all concert-goers in Hongkong and his fine voice has made him a favourite at all entertainments of this description. He contributed a number of songs, which were much appreciated. Mrs. Gandy made a successful debut on the concert platform of Hongkong at Government House a short time ago. Her pleasing voice was heard to advantage again last night, and confirmed first impressions that she will be in great demand at vocal concerts of this nature. Miss Gladys Grace made her first public appearance and, judging by her most excellent performance, she will be a welcome addition to the musical world of the Colony. She furnished selections from Liszt, Chopin and other composers with much feeling and a fine delicacy of touch and showed herself to be a pianist of a very high order indeed. The Hon. Mr. Claude Severn's well-trained voice has delighted Hongkong on several previous occasions. He kindly came forward again last night and gave several well-rendered items. Mrs. Tinson's songs were furnished with great charm and her sweet voice made a strong appeal and gained her a richly-deserved ovation.

HONGKONG, 27th Oct., 1922.

OUR CITY HALL.

We were extremely pleased to read Mr. Bird's admirably expressed plea at yesterday's Council meeting for the abolition of the present City Hall premises and the substitution thereof of a modern block of Municipal Buildings, of which the Colony so badly in need. The scheme he put forward, for the construction of a main building to include a museum and library, dancing halls, Colonial Secretariat, Council Chamber and the P.W.D., with a detached theatre, has everything to commend it. The site, as he says, is ample for such a place, and the transformation would be one thoroughly in accord with the needs of the time. The present building has long been a laughing-stock; it can best be described as a relic of the past, and it is conspicuously out of harmony with the modern buildings now springing up in this Colony.

Mr. Bird hit the nail on the head when he declared that this is no longer a matter for private enterprise. The public has the haziest notions as to who runs the City Hall, and well might that be so, for the simple reason that its affairs never get any publicity. In point of fact, the building was erected from public subscription, but it is now in the hands of a body of trustees, appointed by whom we do not know. The Government contributes the ridiculously low sum of $100 per month to the institution, and there, apparently, its responsibilities end. Is it any wonder that the public clamours in vain for a really modern theatre and an up-to-date suite of assembly rooms such as the most ordinary towns at Home can boast? This is, as Mr. Bird remarked, a matter for the Government, and there could be no better time than the present, with our financial position as it is, for the authorities to take the whole project in hand.

As we observed only a few days ago, the museum and library are nothing short of a disgrace to the Colony, whereas, as Mr. Bird pointed out, Hong Kong ought to have a museum of really exceptional interest. The Straits Government spends some $4,000 a month on the public museum and library in Singapore; our own museum and library look as though they have never had that amount expended on them throughout the whole period of their existence. We are glad to see that Mr. Severn describes this part of the building as "deplorable." His Excellency, however, rather distorted Mr. Bird's suggestion when he referred to it as "a sort of compendium of offices, restaurant and public reception rooms." A banquet hall is not a restaurant, anyhow. As to the strong objection to working in an office with a theatre on one side and public rooms on another, all we can say is that municipal officials at Home are almost invariably quartered in such surroundings, and we do not know that their work suffers in consequence. In any event, we should say there would be little probability of Government officials working so late as to be disturbed either by any public meetings or theatrical performances held in the new building.

The New Orientation.

The student of politics has material for an interesting exercise in policy-making on behalf of the various parties who are about to seek the suffrages of the British nation. We have the Bonar Law Unionists, the Chamberlain Unionists, the National Liberals (headed by Mr. Lloyd George), and the Independent Liberals (headed by Mr. Asquith). The Labour Party is, of course, a distinct force. What need is there of the four parties just enumerated—that is, what differences are there to justify the existence of these four separate entities? Mr. Bonar Law speaks of retrenchment, abandoning on the altar of economy measures desirable in themselves. Assuredly the nation will welcome economy, but some outline at least of how it is intended to effect this is needed before enthusiasm can be felt for the Tory slogan. Such disbursements as interest on the National Debt and provision for sinking-fund, war pensions, and old-age pensions, which represent such a large proportion of the Budget, must remain, whatever party be in power, and to these has now to be added fifty millions per annum in respect of interest alone on the debt to the United States. Perhaps the Bonar Law Unionists have their eye on such matters as education and the Civil Service Estimates when they speak of economy. The country is certainly spending a huge sum upon education. Adding local expenditure, it probably approximates to a hundred million per annum, notwithstanding that the Coalition Government deferred many of the Fisher reforms. Despite this heavy outlay, however, educationists tell us that we are not doing enough. By a rigorous overhaul there may be the outlooker feels that there must be some room for saving; yet it is unlikely that the margin can make a great difference to the Budget. As to foreign policy, it is hardly imaginable that the Conservative Party, with its Imperial traditions, would have acted very differently from the stand taken by the Coalition over the Near East, for instance.

Personal—Not Political. These considerations stimulate curiosity as to how Mr. Bonar Law proposes to effect substantial economies. The Chamberlain Unionists have not announced definite lines of policy, but, as they are not joining with the Lloyd George Liberals, it looks as if their platform must run parallel to, if it does not merge in, the Bonar Law one. At a National Liberal meeting on Wednesday, Mr. Lloyd George gave some indication of the lines to be pursued by his followers, from which it would appear that his party is virtually to become a centre party—as, indeed, the Liberal Party was before the war, standing between the Conservatives and Labour. But under the new conditions set up by the war it is doubtful whether the principles of Conservatives and Liberals can differ as in former days, the tendency now being to align along anti-Labour or non-Labour lines in resistance to the threat of "proletariat" dictation. This is seen in the case of the Independent Liberals, who, in spite of professions of sympathy with Labour, are certainly farther removed from that body than they are from any of those which have been enumerated. Mr. McKenna's conversion is some indication of this. A glance at the present position shows that the several divisions are much more personal than political.

DAY BY DAY:

"The Bookshelf" by "Librarian," is unavoidably held over. Yesterday's health return shows two cases of enteric fever (one English and one Filipino) and one case of diphtheria (Indian).

The Kwantung tannery near Tungshau, Canton, originally a semi-Government concern, will be sold through the General Chamber of Commerce on November 11 next. The upset price is $400,000.

A married woman who was reported to be missing from her home early yesterday morning was later discovered lying lifeless on a rock at Taiwan Bay, having met her death by drowning. It is presumed that the case is one of suicide.

Amongst the passengers who arrived by the Empress of Asia yesterday were Mrs. T. E. Pearce, Mr. G. T. Edkins, Mr. H. Hancock, Mr. R. C. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. F. Stone, Mr. H. C. Sleigh and Mr. L. Yates.

A Chinese female, stated to be a concubine, living at Front Row, Taihang village, committed suicide yesterday. Her body was discovered suspended by a girdle from a bed post in her cubic. It was cut down and taken to the Mortuary.

A gold chain, valued at $60, is lost from a jeweller's shop at No. 270 Queen's Road Central, according to a report received by the police to-day. It is stated by the jeweller that the chain, which was contained in a box with four or five others, was missed after a customer came to see them. Efforts were then made to discover where the man had gone, but with no result.

"East Lynne" is attracting big houses at the Coronet. The enthusiastic reception the picture is getting seems to demonstrate that the producers were right in their decision to present it as a world classic born anew. Nothing of the great emotional appeal of the sweet and simple story has been lost, and the characters appear just as one remembers them to have been in the book.

At the Police Court yesterday, before Mr. E. W. Hamilton, Chen Kwai was charged by Inspector Fisher, of the S.P.C.A., for cruelty to fowls by carrying two crates, each two feet in diameter, with 15 fowls in each. Mr. Hamilton said that, had it not been for the fact that the crates were properly lined, he would have inflicted a fine of $25, but under the circumstances he thought a fine of $5 would meet the case.

The Provincial Bank at Canton has already appointed a number of officials to take practical charge of the redemption of notes. It is believed that the short-term loan with the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation to give immediate effect to the proposals in connection with this problem has been concluded and that redemption of the notes will take place within a very few days.

Count Tolstoi's novel, "Atonement," comes to the Star Theatre this evening in picture form. There are few readers who are not acquainted with the classical works of the great Russian author, and the typical touch of his creative genius is no better illustrated than in this story. The film-producer's art has combined with the author in providing as dramatic a production as could be found within the list of film masterpieces. The management announces that only two days will be given to the screening of "Atonement."

Our Picture Page will be one of exceptional local interest to-morrow. The illustrations will include two pictures of scenes in "I'll Leave It To You," a group of the Children's Club organised by Mrs. Sanders—a photo of General da Costa, K.C.M.G., who is now visiting Macao on military reorganisation plans; a sketch of the new Asiatic Petroleum building to be erected on Queen's Road; a group of the Defence Corps and U.S.S. Rainbow rifle teams which met last Sunday; a portrait of "Battling Key," the Chinese boxer; and a group photo of Mr. Tsang Foo and his family.

INTIMIDATION?

The Boy and the Marked Note.

In a charge of demanding money by menaces, heard by Mr. R. E. Lindsell this morning, Sub-Inspector Shaftain, prosecuting, said that the youthful complainant in the case was drawn into conversation with a stranger at the Eastern Cinema and was told to join a certain club conditional on his paying a sum of $20, which was the entrance fee. Threats were used by the man, identified to be the prisoner in the case, and it came about that an arrangement was eventually come to by which the sum he paid in instalments of $5.

The police were apprised of the case by a report personally made by the boy at No. 2 Police Station, and the Sub-Inspector planned that a marked $5 be paid to the prisoner when he was asked for it at the time and place decided on. It was also planned that detectives would be ready at hand to swoop down on the prisoner as soon as this incriminating piece of evidence was in the man's possession. The scheme, however, had to undergo complete alteration by a premature encounter with the prisoner. By chance he came across the boy at the General Post Office and got the latter to hand over the $5 note which happened to be the one marked by the Sub-Inspector. Under the circumstances the boy decided that the best thing for him to do would be to follow the prisoner and have him arrested at the first favourable opportunity. Near the Central Market the boy blew a whistle and a passer-by promptly grabbed the prisoner. The note was then found to be on the ground, and it is alleged by the boy that it was dropped by the prisoner when arrested, appeared to him to be inevitable.

The prisoner in the Court averred that this was all a "plant." The boy owed him a grudge because at one time, when in the capacity of a watchman aboard a steamer, he saw the boy attempt to pick the pockets of a passenger. To enable the accused to bring his witnesses in support of his statement, his Worship ordered that the hearing be adjourned until to-morrow morning.

NEWS FROM CANTON.

Railway Guards Increased.

Our Canton correspondent states that General Chan King-ming has ordered the railway guards on the line between Canton and Shikling to be greatly increased during the day and not to be decreased until after the last train has passed.

In consequence of the recent bomb explosions and other incidents, the members of the Commander-in-Chief's headquarters have had their official badges changed.

General Hung Siu-lun's force for the relief of Fookien has been increased from 20 to 30 battalions and has been ordered to proceed without delay to Chungchow. Reports recently received show that a big gang of robbers attacked Dosing market some days ago and kidnapped a hundred people, later fleeing to their stronghold in the hills at Fungchun, on the West River. Commander Tsai Ping has accordingly attacked them in strong force, with the result that many of the robbers were killed and captured and over 80 of the kidnapped people released.

FLOODS IN FUKIEN.

Houses Washed Away.

MANY LIVES LOST.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Foochow, Oct. 21. News has come from missionary in Funging of floods in the Funging Prefecture and of considerable devastation that is being caused in the Fuan Hsien. He says:—"I left Funging on Thursday morning and spent Thursday night at Ka Bang and saw what dreadful havoc the flood had made there. It had been seven feet high in the Church and all over the village mud walls, and in many places, whole houses had come down. The streets are almost impassable, and the whole village largely in ruins. The Church has lost all surrounding walls, but, as in many other cases, the inside shell stands on its pillars. I went by river to Fuan on Friday and saw all along the river banks traces of the havoc done. Generally the water seems to have been about 20 feet above the ordinary level of the river, and in some places it had been at least 40 feet up. The Upper Bablong branch of the river seems to have been worst, so that Upper Bablong, Tang Tau, and U Diong Buang suffered very badly. The river broke in badly at Kuchong, the ferry station, a quarter of a mile up river, washing away (with the loss of 50 to 80 people) all the houses but one. Going in from there, the water encircled the city of Fuan, and rising up through Long Tau by 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon it came over the city wall on three sides of the city. From the lower parts of the city the people were rushing for refuge to Gui Hu Sang and the other hills, or, if too late, up to the tops of their houses. Below Gui Hu Sang, many of the houses had only the ridge poles visible. The water rose till 10 p.m., after which it gradually subsided, but the night was filled with the noise of the crashing of walls of houses and shrieks of the despairing people. The inner framework of most houses held, and now the city, in the lower parts, comprising about half of its area, is in ruins, streets and drains blocked, mud striding several feet high, and debris of every sort accumulated in all directions. The Chamber of Commerce and the missionary ladies kept food going for all who applied for a couple of days, and there was a big exodus to the villages of all who had relatives available, so that the city is largely deserted, and trade is at an almost complete standstill. The number of dead in the city was not large, and all known have been collected; many washed down from the villages have been buried too."

The situation in Foochow is quiet at present, though there is an atmosphere of apprehension. The soldiers have been paid in paper money issued by the Generals in command. These people will not accept, so the shops are nearly all closed. There are rumours that Wu Peifu is sending an army to retake the city.

THE BUDGET DEBATE.

Government Replies to Unofficials.

SUMMARY OF OFFICIAL SPEECHES.

Yesterday's full-dress debate on the Colony's Budget for 1923 lasted for three hours. Yesterday we published over 10 columns of speeches and this morning's South China Morning Post contained over 18 columns of entirely new matter. We make no apology for not reproducing those 18 columns in this evening's newspaper. Firstly, it would crowd out other interesting news, and, secondly, we are assuming that those members of the public who wish to read all the speeches in full will already have purchased the morning paper. But for the benefit of our readers we have made the following summary of the speeches we did not report yesterday, confining ourselves to the salient points of each speaker.

Mr. Lowe's Speech.

The Hon. Mr. A. R. Lowe urged that, in view of the Colony's big balance in hand, there could easily be a reduction in the taxation on liquor and tobacco. He criticised the Government's method of presenting inadequate accounts and pleaded for the return to the more detailed statements presented 17 years ago. He went on to say that the revenue of the Colony had for many years been largely in excess of recurrent expenses and that during the last 20 years the present generation had contributed $27,000,000 to Public Works Extraordinary. The moral of that was that the present inhabitants outside Happy Valley were overtaxed and the Government was hoarding up the savings for benefit of posterity. He asked for a true statement of the Colony's assets and liabilities and, after a detailed analysis of the accounts of the Colony's war loan, recommended the paying off of the loan from the present balances in hand. This Colony was undoubtedly a rich one, but there was no reason why it should not employ its surplus funds locally instead of sending them to London to the Crown Agents as at present. Such funds could be better invested here. He criticised the method in which the Railway accounts were kept and urged that they be made to conform to the system in use on the Chinese Railways. He said he had been asked to draw the Government's attention to the inadequate compensation granted to the families of murdered members of the Chinese detective and police force. Speaking on the question of the Kowloon Hospital he said that the Hon. Director of Public Works had very cleverly tried to stave off criticism by calling for tenders last week. Kowloonites had asked him to enquire if it took 24 years to ask for tenders after the site had been chosen, how long would it be before the building would be ready to receive a patient. Forty-nine Europeans from Kowloon went into Hongkong hospitals last month, some of the cases being serious and urgent. He pressed for the completion of the work, or the provision of temporary accommodation. In referring to the Cheung Chau's needs, he appealed to the Government to support the pioneers there. He proceeded to suggest that the duty on cheques should be reduced from ten cents to one cent; he asked for an actual valuation of the Civil Servants' Widows and Orphans Fund, and pressed for the completion of the short cut road to Repulse Bay.

Director of Public Works Replies.

The Hon. Director of Public Works, in the course of a lengthy speech, touched on the main points raised by the Unofficial Members. He gave a detailed explanation of the Colony's water supply and referred to the big Shing Mun Valley scheme which would tap enormous gathering grounds. There were magnificent sites for the construction of reservoirs at a height sufficient to allow a supply to the City by gravitation. Flexible mains would be constructed across the harbour and a big service tank would probably be built under the Public Gardens which, after the work was completed, would remain as seen at present. It was scarcely possible that Hongkong would get such a supply within three years and so, in the meantime, big catchwater schemes were being proceeded with, by which it was hoped to avoid the present shortage in future years. Speaking on the cost of building, he did not think there was much chance of it being reduced in the near future. He was not prepared to recommend the Government to make its own bricks, but thought that large quantities might be purchased for delivery over considerable periods and stored until wanted. The cost of labour might be reduced by installing labour-saving devices and the Government was considering the getting of plant and lending it out to contractors. He agreed that better water-side facilities for builders were wanted. He proceeded to refer to the questions which had been asked about the water-boat dock at Lai Chi Kok, the Tylam Pumping Plant, the Kowloon Hospital, etc. With regard to the Peak Motor Road, he thought that the section up to the "Homestead" should be completed by the end of the year but he was unable to state when the road would be completed up to the Peak Tramway. After references to better lighting and the sub-contractor question (which he thought could not be eliminated), and the need for greater facilities for building yards, he gave it as his opinion that it would be futile to make borings for water, especially in view of the big schemes ahead. He explained that Kowloon was to have better lighting as well as Hongkong, that more latrines were to be erected in the Peninsula, and that the delays in connection with the Kowloon Hospital had been unavoidable. In conclusion he thanked the Government for His Excellency's gracious references to himself and defended the present system of the insular working of the Public Works Department.

Educational Matters.

The Director of Education (Mr. E. A. Irving), replying to the suggestion that shorthand should be taught in the schools, said his private opinion was that the boys would be better employed in getting on with ordinary school subjects; they could learn shorthand later. He said it was his earnest desire that more should be done for the education of British children, but pointed out the developments that had been made in the last twenty years in this regard. Referring to the employment of untrained teachers, he said many of them had now been teaching for anything between five and two years, and he was well satisfied with the work they were doing. He also made reference to the suggestion that an expert should be at the head of the Education Department, remarking that the officer in charge of the Department should have experience of Chinese child psychology and a knowledge of the Cantonese language, as more than 10,000 children received their education in the Chinese language alone.

Mr. Fletcher's Speech.

The Hon. Colonial Secretary (Mr. A. G. M. Fletcher) delivered a very lengthy speech. He first of all dealt with the difficulties of revenue officers in trying to prevent smuggling and thought that the shipping companies might do a little more to help. Regarding the smuggling of arms he thought that Chinese public opinion should more strongly support the efforts of the Government. Speaking of wireless aids to shipping he said that an expert from the Marconi Company was now installing a position finder and that it should be ready for use next month. He did not think that the fate of the s. Gondia or any other ship could have been avoided by the Government. The Government was fully alive to the necessity of keeping the Observatory up to date and would give sympathetic consideration to any proposals made. Speaking on the police force, he claimed that the Colony had a force in which the standard of zeal and efficiency was second to none and where conditions of service, pay, leave and pensions would compare favourably with any in the world. He issued a note of warning to any who might think that Hongkong was a place in which shorthand writers could make a fortune, and proceeded to refer to the cost of building, which he thought was a matter of supply and demand. The Government would be glad to consider suggestions for legislation on labour restrictions and unrest, but legislation was not a panacea for all the ills, and he would rather look to education and better living conditions to effect a change in attitude. Mr. Fletcher proceeded to explain the Government's policy of housing allowances to the staff, and defended Mr. Irving's appointment as Director of Education. He condemned speculative land purchases in the New Territories and said that those people who had bought land and allowed it to remain agricultural land for many years and then wished to convert it into building sites at their own will when development had enhanced its value, ought to know that the Government was against such a proceeding. He made special reference to Castle Peak. Having touched on the matter of child labour, the desirability of more cultivation in the New Territories and the desire of the Government to help the Cheung Chau settlement, Mr. Fletcher defended the erection of a common garage on the Peak, saying that the decision was made after consulting with the Automobile Association.

Mr. Severn's Speech.

In the course of a lengthy speech, His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government disagreed with the suggestion that the tobacco and spirit duties ought not to have been increased. In a Colony where we produce nothing, large credit balances were needed, and he did not see why people who indulged in what had been termed "minor vices" should not pay adequately for doing so. The Government, however, would consider the duties on light wines, which were possibly heavier than necessary. His Excellency said the Colony was lightly taxed and remarked that it was impossible to pay off the $3,000,000 loan, owing to a legal difficulty. With regard to the suggested reorganisation of the P. W. D., no doubt that was a very proper thing to do, and the matter would have to be faced very soon. Regarding bathing beaches, Mr. Severn said it was not true that the Colony was to be deprived of all its beaches. The beach near the Yacht Club would not be reclaimed but would be kept as a public bathing beach. It was hoped to do something to provide bathing facilities for Kowloon. With regard to military lands, entire agreement had been reached locally, and a scheme has been drawn up and sent to England. They were now awaiting an answer. If the scheme were approved, Garden Road would probably be closed to wheeled traffic and it would then be unnecessary to go into the question of widening it. As to the City Hall, he could not agree to its being made into a sort of compendium of offices, restaurant and public reception rooms. He strongly objected to working in offices with a theatre on one side and public rooms on the other. When the military lands were available, no doubt public institutions would be properly provided for. The City Hall was not so bad as it was made out to be, but the Museum was deplorable. His Excellency said, with regard to the Peak playground, that it was considered that a number of small grounds would be preferable to one large one, and, in regard to town planning, he paid a tribute to those who had assisted, saying that valuable work had been done, especially in Kowloon.

The Budget Bill was passed, and the Council adjourned sine die.

TO-DAY'S MISCELLANY.

A descendant of the old kings of Leinster has passed away in the Right Hon. W. McMurrough Kavanagh, of Borris, Co. Carlow, and his death recalls a romantic story of the crown of his ancestors. For generations the Kavanaghs bore the designation of Kings of Leinster, but misfortune after misfortune came, and they lost every acre, the remnant of their vast possessions being bought by the Kavanaghs of Borris, a junior line. Through all their vicissitudes they clung to one emblem of sovereignty, their golden crown, which one of them took to France. Efforts were made to trace it, and after much trouble the Borris Kavanaghs concluded that it was melted down at the time of the French Revolution.

London is to have two Territorial Army Air Brigades, one of which will be commanded by Lieut.-Colonel D. H. Gill, C.M.G., D.S.O. Colonel Gill, whose father was at one time Chaplain to the British Embassy at Paris, has had twenty-five years' experience of artillery work. Receiving his military education at the R.M.A., Woolwich, he was granted his commission in the Royal Artillery in 1897. During the South African War he served with both the Horse and Field Artillery, taking part in the sieges of Ladysmith, where he was severely wounded. He went to Much interest is being taken in the daily growth of the R.A.F. memorial at Whitehall Steps, Victoria Embankment. The site has been screened off temporarily, but above the hoarding the multi-tit structure rears itself higher every day, and soon the top should be reached. It is not, however, a pile of solid blocks, as might be imagined, but is "made up" after the manner of the buttresses which support the various pier landings on the Embankment. A foundation column of reinforced concrete is first erected, and then the face-blocks of stone are incrustated piece by piece. It is a quick-drying process, and soon after the capstone has been put on the crowning figure of Flight will be hoisted into position, to give the final touch.

The University of Wooster, Ohio, which has just been represented in London by 60 of its women students, has had a remarkable history. The fine buildings which now stand at Wooster were erected in exactly a year, after a disastrous fire, which demolished the previous university. The president of the university, Dr. Louis E. Holden, was away when the fire occurred, but he announced immediately his intention of collecting funds for a still more complete and beautiful set of buildings to be built in a year. And, to a day, the new college is ready! Dr. Holden left his mark very definitely on the university, before leaving to hold the presidency of James Millikin University, Decatur.

The war has not led every Service family to abandon its old traditions. For instance, the Barttelots, who came to England with William of Normandy, and who have lived at Stopham ever since, have not yet had their fill of the Army. The second baronet, Sir Walter Barttelot, was killed in South Africa 22 years ago while commanding a battalion of Sussex volunteers. His eldest son, the third baronet, Sir Walter Balfour Barttelot, of the Coldstream Guards, fell in the Great War while a military attaché in Persia, and his second son, Lieut. Commander Nigel Barttelot, was one of the first naval officers on the roll of honour in 1914. Now the fourth baronet, Sir Walter de Stopham Barttelot, despite the fact that he fell his father and grandfather is about to start his military career at Sandhurst.

The circular of the Drapers' Chamber of Trade concerning the supplanting of the jumper by the blouse, writes a correspondent in a Home paper, may be classed as auto-suggestive. Jumpers have never found favour with the wholesale trade, because probably 50 per cent. of those worn are home-made. The craze for knitting or crocheting is not so keen as it was, but there are many women, and not a few men, who still pursue this gentle exercise. Blouses, or what Americans call the "shirt waist," are essentially dressmakers' work. From a woman's point of view, the great advantage of the jumper is that it is easy to put on and off; that it always "fits" and that it is inexpensively cleaned. The present competition among artificial silk manufacturers to sell their wares for hand-made garments will do something to maintain the popularity of the jumper—apart from feminine predilection.

PATHETIC SEQUEL TO VLADIVOSTOK "AMMO" AFFAIR.

The wife of Major Hara, who was committed for trial by a court-martial for a breach of responsibility in the guardianship of the Czechoslovak arms, committed suicide on the 10th inst. by jumping overboard from the Shimonoseki-Fusan Ferry. The arrest of her husband is believed to have been the cause of her suicide.

SHIPPING NEWS.

SHIPPING BOARD LINE TO INDIA.

Because cargoes do not warrant it, the United States Shipping Board is unable to immediately resume the India service, which Mr. Morton, Far Eastern manager of the Board, says will be started again as soon as cargo tonnage from India, Straits Settlements and Indo-China is sufficient to make the service profitable.

MOTORSHIP IN TYPHOON.

The 500-ton motorship Singbe, owned by Dee Chuan founded, on September 21 when but one half mile south of Point Dumale, Mindoro. The captain and crew has battled with the wind and heavy seas for several hours, and it was only when the engines had been put out of commission and it was impossible to use the pumps, that they decided to abandon the vessel and take to the boats. They were rescued by the S. Carmon. It seems that the Singbe was bound for Manila with a cargo consisting of 300,000 board feet of lumber when she ran into the tail end of the typhoon.

A NEW P. & O. MAIL STEAMER.

The "Moldavia," which is the latest vessel to be completed of the P. & O. Company's post-war mail steamers, just delivered by Messrs. Cammell, Laird & Company, ran a series of successful trials at Birkenhead, and left the Mersey for Tilbury Dock preparatory to her maiden departure for Australia on the 13th. October. She bears the name of a P. & O. steamer well known on the Australian trade which was lost in the war while employed as an Armed Merchant cruiser. The new Moldavia presents a variation from the type of previous ships designed for the P. & O. Company's Australian mail line which will not lessen her popularity with voyagers to and from the Southern Hemisphere. The "Naldara" and "Narkunda," which have been put into service on their completion within the last two years, are, as passengers steamers, lineal descendants of their forerunners of the "M" class, for, while exhibiting the best qualities of their predecessors, they are distinguished from them in that they embody the accumulated improvement in design based upon experience in the operation of the earlier ships, in gradually increasing numbers, over a period of seventeen years. While in the "Naldara" and "Narkunda," each approximately of 16,000 tons gross, with a length of 605 feet, accommodation is provided on four decks for 683 first and second saloon passengers, the Moldavia (and her sister the Mongolia) of the same tonnage and length are designed for a lesser number, their berthing plan providing for 222 first and 175 second class passengers, a total of 397, on three decks. The chief difference is that while the main deck and the three decks above it are, in the Naldaras, devoted to passengers' various uses, the new Moldavias carry all their passenger accommodation above the upper deck, i.e. on the promenade, shade and shelter decks respectively. The first and second saloon promenade decks afford ample spaces for games, dancing or other forms of exercise or entertainment. The cabins are generally on the Incheape plan, each having access by its own porthole or portholes to outside light and air. Ample natural ventilation is provided throughout the ship and is reinforced by a generous outfit of electrical ventilating fans in saloons, cabins and bathrooms. Of the passenger accommodation generally it may be said to be characterized by comfort and coolness, as befits a ship designed for travellers in the tropics, and, in the public rooms, by a tasteful scheme of interior decoration which will gratify the restrained taste of Eastern voyagers. The "Moldavia" holds are to a large extent insulated for the carriage of refrigerated Australian produce. She is capable of stowing 13,500 tons deadweight, and possesses large cargo hatchways and an outfit of cargo lifting gear which includes 23 tubular steel derricks, one of which is capable of a lift of 30 tons. The vessel is propelled by twin-screw double reduction geared turbine machinery manufactured by Messrs. Cammell, Laird & Co., who have constructed the ship and the engines from designs prepared in consultation with the P. & O. Company's naval architect, Mr. C. G. Deane and their superintendent engineer, Mr. Robert Leslie, O.B.E. She is commanded by Captain Cecil W. Barclay, D.S.O., R.N.R.
